Five-Year Integrated M.A. Buddhist Studies

General Instructions about the Course, the Pattern of Examination and the Syllabus

I. General Instructions

I.1 General Structure: Five-Year Integrated M.A. Buddhist Studies is a ten-semester course offered by the Department of Pali and Buddhist Studies, Savitribai Phule Pune University. It contains 196 core credits plus eight additional credits in Part I and ten in Part II. The course is to be completed within five years. It contains fifty-two courses. All the elective courses are also available for students doing any Master degree course in the university.

The Five-Year Integrated M.A. is a full-time course. It is divided into two parts: Part I consisting of six semesters (I–VI) and Part II consisting of four semesters (VII–X).

The first six semesters of the course consist of 132 core credits whereas the last four semesters have sixty-four core credits. In Part I, there are: fourteen Core Courses (CC), six Discipline Specific Elective Courses (DSEC), four Generic Elective Courses (GEC), eight Ability Enhancement Compulsory Courses (AECC), and four Ability Enhancement Elective Courses (AEEC). In part II, there are: twelve Core Courses (CC) and twenty-eight Elective Courses (EC). In order to promote research aptitude and to inculcate relevant research skills among the students, the course includes research training and academic writing in the form of research article, book review, preparation of bibliography, and short dissertation/translation project in the sixth and the tenth semesters.

The Basic Diploma in Buddhist Studies and the Advanced Diploma in Buddhist Studies offered by the Savitribai Phule Pune University will be treated as equivalent to the first and the second years of the Five-Year Integrated M.A. in Buddhist Studies respectively. Consequently, a student passing the Basic Diploma in Buddhist Studies can be directly admitted to the second year and a student passing the Advanced Diploma in Buddhist Studies can be directly admitted to the third year of the Five-Year Integrated M.A. in Buddhist Studies. After the successful completion of three years (i.e., six semesters), there is a provision for exit whereby a student can get a Bachelor's degree in Buddhist Studies. After the successful completion of the five-year programme (i.e., ten semesters), a student will obtain an Integrated Master's degree in Buddhist Studies. A student having a B.A. degree in Buddhist Studies/Sanskrit of a recognized university or its equivalent can be given direct entry to the fourth year (i.e., seventh semester) of the Five-Year Integrated M.A. course through an entrance test. After successfully completing the last two years of the Five-Year Integrated M.A. course such a student will get M.A. degree in Buddhist Studies.

The course will be conducted in the form of lectures, seminars, and tutorials. Teaching of all the semesters will be sequential. Syllabus of each course of Part I will be discussed in forty-five to sixty lecture hours (approximately) during each semester. Syllabus of each course of Part II will be discussed in sixty to seventy clock hours (approximately) during each semester.

Students' understanding will be assessed on the basis of their performance on things, such as assignments, debate on conceptual issues, group discussion, presentation, written and oral examination, etc.

Students are expected to maintain at least 75% attendance and to ensure their active participation in the class.

I.2 Introduction: The Five-Year Integrated M.A. Buddhist Studies course offers deeper level understanding of the Buddhist literature available in Buddhist Sanskrit. It also introduces students to Buddhist literature in two other important languages, namely, Pali and Tibetan. The syllabus of the course is designed in such a way that it gives holistic understanding of Buddhist literature along with its related disciplines, such as Comparative Linguistics and Philology, Philosophy (Indian and Western), History of Buddhism in India and Abroad, Buddhist Art, Architecture and Epigraphy, Buddhist Psychology, and Engaged Buddhism. The course aims at providing a solid foundation in Buddhist literature, based on which students can pursue serious research in the field. It also prepares students for a bright academic career by enhancing their knowledge and capacities in different disciplines. Students completing this course together with a number of allied subjects mentioned above would have career openings in different fields, and could do path breaking work by connecting Buddhist literature with a number of other disciplines.

I.3 Objectives: The objectives of the Five-Year Integrated M.A. Buddhist Studies are:

- To provide thorough understanding of Buddhist Sanskrit language and literature with the help of extensive textual study of different genre
- To help students acquire foundational skills in Pali and Tibetan with the purpose of encouraging comparative study
- To enable students to explore the vast field of Buddhist Studies covering various other disciplines, such as Linguistics, Philosophy, Psychology, Sociology, History, Epigraphy, etc.
